

Prompt: ... , your task is to find the alarm clock in the environment. I will give ... , your output should follow the format ...

SpatialCoT:

Thought: The alarm clock is most likely located on the nightstand or dresser in the bedroom area. This is a common place for an alarm clock to be found, as it is convenient for use while getting ready for the day. The layout suggests that the room extends into the bedroom area, where such items are typically placed.

Action: I would go to (0.82, 0.71) to find the alarm clock.
